

A photograph of a deer with large, light-colored antlers standing in a dense forest. The deer is facing forward, and its body is partially obscured by the branches and leaves of the trees. The lighting is soft, suggesting a dappled sunlight effect.

*God saw you getting weary,
So He did what He knew best.
He came and stood beside you and
Whispered come and rest.
You wished no one a last farewell
Nor even said good bye,
You were gone before we knew it
And only God knows why.
When God called you to rest,
You didn't go alone,
For part of us went with you
The day God took you home.*
