"Then the King will say to those on his right, 'Come, you who are blessed by my Father; take your inheritance, the kingdom prepared for you since the creation of the world. For I was hungry and you gave me something to eat, I was thirsty and you gave me something to drink, I was a stranger and you invited me in, I needed clothes and you clothed me, I was sick and you looked after me, I was in prison and you came to visit me.'"

I hope when death comes it embraces us gently, like being carried to your bedroom as a child after falling asleep on the couch during a lively family party.

And in that transition, I hope we can still sense the echoes of laughter resonating from the next room. Reminding us of the Love and Joy that filled our journey.

And as the voices of the ones that are, fade ... The voices of those who once were, now echo in your ears. And in that moment the hands of the souls you miss most will reach for you ... and whisper ... you're home.

You are home.
