Mortician's Brief

Miss Me But Let Me Go

When I come to the end of the road

And the sun has set for me

I want no rites in a gloom-filled room

Why cry for a soul set free?

Miss me a little-but not too long

And not with your head bowed low

Remember the love that we once shared

Miss me-but let me go

Obituary

Warren Dale Lamb was born to the late Freddie Davis Lamb and Harriet Walker Lamb on April 2, 1966. His maternal grandparents were Betty Ann Anderson Walker and William Walker.

His paternal grandparents were Sarah Fennel Lamb and Harrison Lamb Sr. Warren was the youngest of four children born to Harriet and Freddie and the youngest grandson of Harrison and Sarah Lamb.

As a teenager, Warren was an avid hunter and a great marksman, he was very particular about his hunting and would always return from the woods with game. After attending Job Corps, Warren worked with a conduction company. He was always doing odd jobs for people in the community. Whenever he did something that he liked, he did so with a great deal of focus and detail.

Like his maternal grandfather William, Warren loved to dance and would often challenge his nieces to a dance off. In the proper setting he would have been an excellent choreographer. He also liked to work out and would encourage his nephews to do the same.

Warren was preceded in death by his father in 1987, his sister Lena Pearl Lamb Simpson in 2015, and his mother in January 2019. He will be greatly missed by his family as well as those in the community who would often drive by and see him sitting on his front porch. He is survived by two brothers Jerry Lee Lamb and Freddie Lamb Jr (Rose), sister-in-law Sheila Lamb, four nieces and one nephew, five great nephews and seven great nieces and one great-great nephew and more than 40 plus first cousins. It is with heavy hearts that we grieve his departure, may he rest in peace.

There Are No Tears

There are no tears in heaven, nor grief of any kind. I leave this final tear drop to those I left behind. Though absent from the body I'm present with the lord. The Joy of my Salvation is now my full reward.
