

He who dwells in the shelter of the Most High
will rest in the shadow of the Almighty.

I will say of the Lord, "He is my refuge and my fortress,
my God, in whom I trust."

He will cover you with his feathers,
and under his wings you will find refuge;
his faithfulness will be your shield and rampart.

Psalm 91:1-2,4

Do you not know?

Have you not heard?

The Lord is the everlasting God,
the Creator of the ends of the earth.

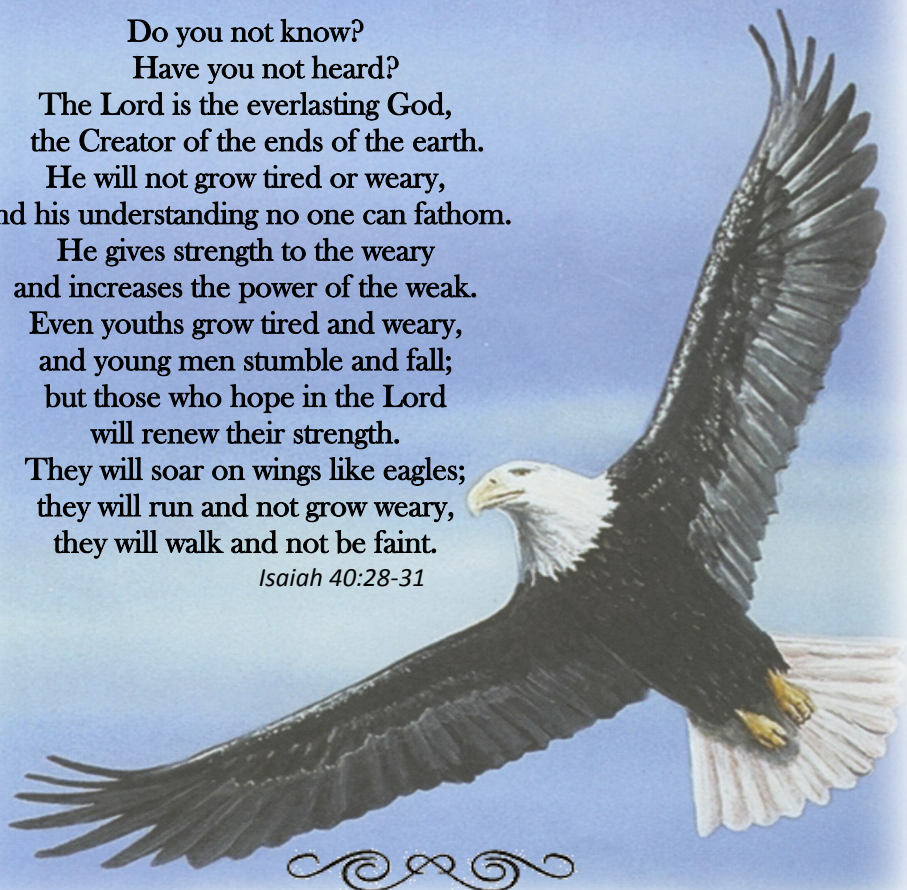

He will not grow tired or weary,
and his understanding no one can fathom.

He gives strength to the weary
and increases the power of the weak.

Even youths grow tired and weary,
and young men stumble and fall;
but those who hope in the Lord
will renew their strength.

They will soar on wings like eagles;
they will run and not grow weary,
they will walk and not be faint.

Isaiah 40:28-31

Greg Bullis, age 72, died peacefully with his wife, Marsha, at his side on Sunday morning, January 5, 2020 in a Watertown hospital.

Gregory Robert Bullis was born on November 7, 1947 in Valley City, N.D. to Robert E. and Mary M. (Fagereng) Bullis. He was educated in North Dakota schools where his father taught, coached, and served as Superintendent. Upon graduating from high school in Woodworth, N.D., Greg began attending college on a military scholarship at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln. He transferred to Valley City State College, where he earned a degree in secondary education, and then began working as the Public Relations and Program Director of the Dakota Affiliate of the American Heart Association.

On June 4, 1977 Greg married Marsha Hurlbert in the First Presbyterian Church at Raymond, S.D. The couple lived in Jamestown, N.D. while Greg continued work with the American Heart Association. They later moved to Fargo, N.D. and enrolled at N.D.S.U., where Greg earned his M.B.A. He then began his teaching career as an Economics instructor at what is now Bismarck State College, retiring in May of 1992.

Greg was an avid sports fan. He played basketball in high school and enjoyed watching college basketball and Minnesota Vikings football on television. Baseball was, by far, his favorite sport, and although he also followed the Minnesota Twins in recent years, his longstanding primary allegiance was to the Chicago Cubs. Greg greatly enjoyed reading, listening to audio books, and watching Westerns, movies, and old reruns on television. Activities in earlier years included hunting, fishing, camping, and traveling with family and friends. A keen interest in computers led him to become extensively involved in their use long before personal computers were commonplace.

Greg was baptized and confirmed in the Lutheran faith and was currently affiliated with the Watertown Presbyterian Church. In spite of his long-term health difficulties, Greg always had a positive attitude and a great sense of humor.

Survivors include his wife, Marsha; mother, Mary Bullis Hoyt; brother-in-law and sister-in-law, Lee and Jane Hurlbert, and their children Megan Hannemann (Luke) and Ross Hurlbert; step-siblings Bruce, Lana, and Don Hoyt, and their families; aunts; and cousins.

Preceding Greg in death were his father, Robert Bullis; sister, Jo Bullis; step-father, Don Hoyt; in-laws, Merrill and Peggy Hurlbert; his grandparents; and other family members.
