“Howdeeeeeee, I’m glad to be here”
Said Minnie Pearl as she did appear;
I watched the Opry faithfully
As she and others brought me glee.

For years I daubed in paint and pail
All over walls and ceiling left a trail
Of colors soft and colors bold,
And pumpkins rich with harvest gold.

Along the way I met a guy
Named Roscoe, gosh he sure was shy;
Together we traveled to auctions far,
Was a task for pickups and not a car.

Now home is calm—and even serene,
As we sit in loungers and dare to dream
Of grandchildren growing and making way
For old folks like us, we’ve had our day.

And me, why I’m marking seventy years
Of fun and laughter, and a few tears;
Celebrate with me this awesome day
Make room for Minnie, she’s here to stay.
